

airRoxy LTD is a rapidly growing producer of domestic ventilation.

High quality standard of customer service based on responding to customers' changing requirements was certified by ISO 9001;2008. To prove high performance of our fans and to guarantee safety of their usage we commissioned an independent external entity TUV SUD to test our fans. The examination will conclude with confirmation of CE certification.

We offer functional products, made of high quality materials (technical material ABS and polycarbonate). Our fans are unique thanks to their high performance and modern original design which attract the attention of the most demanding clients.

The foundation of our company is based on highly experienced and creative personnel. We provide innovative solutions with competitive prices and professional, competent customer service.

We invite you to join the group of satisfied users of airRoxy's products and start a long term cooperation based on mutual trust and understanding. Having in mind our constant development we are looking for a reliable business partner. If you are interested in our offer, we would like to meet you to discuss the terms of our cooperation.
